Arrangements Made for Virginians' Accommodation at Fort Riley.

Details of the encampment plan and of the course to be followed at the camp of instruction for field artillery officers in June have been received by local artillerymen. The instruction camp will be at Fort Riley, Kan. Half of the Virginia officers have been detailed to remain in camp from June 1 to June 10 and the other half from June 1 to June 30. Any, however, may femain for the entire three periods of ten days each if they so desire.

rom June 1 to June 30. Any, however, may femain for the entire three periods of ten days each if they so desire.

Officers detailed to attend are as follows; Captain T. M. Wortham, battalion adjutant; Captain W, M. Myers, First Lieutenants E. C. Rees and J. C. Pollard and Second Lieutenant J. T. Wood, of Battery A; Captain Branch Johnson, First Lieutenants F. G. Jordon and O. W. Scharch, and Second Lieutenants C. B. Borland and W. W. Dey, of Battery B; Captain H. A. Brinkley, First Lieutenants H. A. Brinkley, First Lieutenants J. L. Thomas and L. W. Ditto, and Second Lieutenants J. W. Thompson.

The camp has been arranged by the Division of Militia Affairs of the War Department with a view to giving officers of the cavalry, field artillery, engineer and signal troops of the organized militia an opportunity to acquire definite information of a theoretical and practical nature of the stest equipment and material pertaining to their respective arms, It is also intended that the instruction shall lead up to the joint manoeuvres of the coming summer.

Militia officers taking these courses are to go equipped for field service. They will be quartered in camps prepared for their use, arrangements having been made for regular messes, with enlisted cooks and attendants.

The tents will be equipped with gold medal cots, water buckets, lanterns and folding chairs. Each officer will take with him his bedding roll and field trunk, his field uniform, clive drab of the commass, notebook and pencils. A horse, with saddle blanket and bridle, will be furnished each officer each day that he is at the post, orderies being provided to take care of these horses.

Among the subjects for instruction are: Inspection and review of battery, followed by drill, in which the various formations of the battery are illustrated; inspection of material in battery park, dismounting recoil porting and cylinders; battery drill, manoeuvres and firing; practice in setting sights and laying guns; examination of telescope and practice in setting sights

Story Not True. Story Not True.

Story Not True.

Mrs. Frances Buckald, an aged Polish woman, living with her son in Chesterfield county, came to the city several days ago and told a pitiful story of ill treatment and of having heen driven from home by her son. The story excited the sympathy of Ensign Woods, of the Salvation Army, who made investigation. He found the old lady's story to be imaginative; that she had a good home and was kindly treated by her son, to whom she was returned. It was apparent that her mind was wandering.

It is well known to be a simple combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants with pleasant aromatic liquids, which are agreeable and refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system when its gentle cleansing is desired. Only those who buy the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna can hope to get its beneficial effects, and as a guarantee of the excellence of the remedy, the full name of the company-California Fig Syrup Co.-is printed on the front of every package, and without it any preparation offered as Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is fraudulent and should be declined. To those who know the quality of this excellent laxative, the offer of any substitute, when Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is called for, is always resented by a transfer of patronage to some first-class drug establishment, where they do not recommend, nor sell false brands, nor imitation remedies. Formally Notifies Committee of His Candidacy for Congressional Nomination.

Representative John Lamb yesterday

Representative John Lamb yesterday formally notified the Third District Democratic Committee that he would be a candidate to succeed himself, subject to the Democratic primary. At five minutes past 10 o'clock his secretary, H. M. Tyler, appeared at the office of District Chairman Edward L. C. Scott with the formal notification and a check for $750, one-half the estimated cost of holding a primary election in the district.

"In compliance with the resolution of your committee," says Captain Lamb, "I herewith inclose my check, payable to your treasurer, for $750, to cover assessment of candidates, and notify you and your committee that I shall be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Sixty-second Congress of the United States from the Third District of Virginia in the primary to be held on August 9, 1910."

Entries for this contest will close next Monday at noon. It is becoming evident that the only other name to be filed will be that of State Senator T. Ashby Wickham.

Former Governor Andrew Jackson Montague yesterday morning announced that he could not be a candidate for the nomination. He has received many requests from his friends to enter the contest, but has been unable to get the consent of his mind to get into the race. His professional duttes have kept him absorbed in other than political matters.

SUNDAY SELLER CAUGHT

John Thompson Didn't Know Law In Regard to Labor on Sabbath.

John Thompson, a colored merchant of Henrico county, was haled to court yesterday on the charge of selling bop' to the thirsty souls of the county on Sunday. Thompson conducts a wayside store in the lower part of the county, and when arrested declared that he didn't know it was against the law to open his store on Sunday.

It was explained to him that lack of knowledge of the law wouldn't help his case, whereupon he stated with absolute confidence that he did not labor; that he merely sold "pop." This was taken as rather good evidence on his part, and he was let down with the payment of costs and a large warning.

tant-General W. W. Sale yesterday received the resignation of Major Keeling, who has for so many years faithfully served the military arm of Virginia, in war and in peace. The resignation will be accepted and he will be retired with the rank of lieutenant-colonel. Under the law he is entitled, having reached the age limit, to withdraw with the rank next higher than the one in which he was serving at the time of retirement.

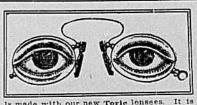

Major Keeling was in a Norfolk company during the Civil War. After leaving that service he took the first opportunity to join a militia command, and has ever since been a member, as he was before the War. For a time he served as captain of the Norfolk Light Artillery Blues, having worked his way up from the ranks through years of faithful service.

On March 12, 1906, he was elected major of the First Battallon of Field Artillery, which is composed of Batteries A, B, C and D, the first of these being the Richmond Howitzers. He succeeded Major William E. Simons, deceased.
